OF A

LETTER

Dropt by accident near Ludgate, Dec. 6. 88.

Superſcribed, To Mr. James Nettervill, in Gracious-Street.

Dear Couſin,

I Have ſent this by Dick the Porter, rather than by the Penny Poſt, to be the ſurer deliver'd unto you; a deſperate Diſeaſe requires as deſperate a Cure: We have, God be thanked, above 13000 Loyal Catholicks lately come to this City to Lodge and Dwell, beſides what be in the Army, and they daily increaſe; theſe long dark Nights we muſt be Ready, you ſhall meet me at the Change Coffee-Houſe, between nine and ten to morrow Morning, from whence we will go to Father Gardner, and Father Berry, and they ſhall inform you of the Concern: Be ſure to meet. I Reſt,

Your Loving Kinſman,

Decemb. 4. 1688.

John Jones.
